Jupiter retrograde astrology meaning

If Jupiter is the planet of luck, does that mean that Jupiter's retrograde step is a particularly unfortunate time? No - but it means that instead of expecting good things to fall in your lap, it's up to you to find and create your own happiness. Jupiter returns on June 20, 2021 until October 17, 2021. What happens when Jupiter is Retrograde? All planets, from time to time, seem from the earth to move backwards through the zodiac. This backward movement is what we call retrograde. This is an optical illusion - no planet actually moves backwards. Because of the variable orbits and orbital speeds of the solar system, it just seems to be the way for us. The outer planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto, have slow orbits and so seem from earth to be backwards than the inner planets, because from our earth orbits much faster, so these planets, seen from the earth, use longer moves 'backwards'. Jupiter is being backwards about every 9 minutes. Because of this, about a third of the world's population is born during a period of Jupiter retrograde motion. If this is the case with you, then you have what we call a natal Jupiter retrograde step in your birth chart. This will subtly affect the way Jupiter's energies play out in your natal chart, but often this is quite a generalized, non-specific influence. Probably more significant is the effect that each Jupiter retrograde period has on a given birth hit, as setbacks symbolically travel backwards through the chart in what we call a transit Jupiter retrograde step. In astrology, the house of Jupiter transits during its retrograde period becomes significant from a spiritual and philosophical point of view. What is the importance of Jupiter Retrograde in astrology? The planet Jupiter's astrological association with good luck is well known. That doesn't mean that a setback from Jupiter is unfortunate. on the contrary, it means that lucky things can happen if you turn inward for a while and start learning some spiritual lessons. Jupiter as a planet is the astrological teacher or guru, strongly associated with spirituality and the evolution of our life philosophy. Jupiter retrograde steps are also said to illuminate lessons left over from a previous life. Those with a strong Jupiter in their natal chart are on a permanent search for knowledge; during Jupiter retrograde, we are all on a quest, for guidance and answers from within as shown by the relevant astrological house. You may find during a Jupiter retrograde period that your own truth differs somewhat from the truth seen by those around you. It's an important time to work out your own values, and to understand that not everyone shares them. And that this is okay. Your own subconscious and unconscious will be hard at work sending you clues and messages; great personal growth is possible if you only take time to listen. One of the more negative where Jupiter's energy manifests itself in the birth chart is in excess. During Jupiter retrograde, it is important not to allow greed to get the better of you. When you find yourself thinking that you want more or need more - whether it's love, money or doughnuts - ask yourself why, and remind yourself that you're already surrounded by blessings. If you are into reincarnation, spend some time thinking about what in a previous life may have caused you to become negative about your current abundance. Jupiter Retrograde in Natal Chart General, those born with Jupiter retrograde in their birth chart have less faith in life than others. They do not feel 'lucky' and may tend to look at the dark side of life. If this is you, you may have tried to find answers through an established religious or belief system, but have been disappointed. Natal Jupiter retrograde people often have to establish their own unique beliefs or to deviate from the path in some way. As always with this planet, it's about finding what feels right rather than adhering to the expectations of others. Astrology suggests that you may struggle with the concept of joy, have difficulty understanding how blessed you are. Keeping a daily gratitude journal can be beneficial to those with natal Jupiter setbacks – and once you start to see the joy of everyday life, you won't be able to stop! Jupiter Retrograd Transiting astrological houses When it comes to backwards planets, the zodiac the planet travels through gives us an overall taste of what to expect, but this changes during each retrograde motion period.
